How do you go to school or work every day? In Taipei, a lot of people take the MRT. The streets in Taipei are often dangerous because they are always full of buses, cars, and scooters. It is usually safe to take the MRT.

Cars and buses make pollution, but the MRT doesn't. You may spend long time getting somewhere, but the MRT only takes you some minutes. In summer, riding a bike is hot, and it's also dangerous and slow on busy streets. But you feel cool and it's convenient when taking the MRT.

There are also "MRTs" in foreign countries. In the UK, people call it "the underground" or "the tube." In the USA, people call it "the subway." In France, people call it "the metro." Isn't it interesting?
