Have you ever sat in a coffee shop, reading a book with a cup of coffee in your hand? Do you often go to libraries to read books? For some people, there's no greater pleasure than reading a book in a comfortable chair. However, reading is not only a pleasure. There are many benefits of it:

- Reading helps you use your brain, and think more.

When you read a book, you need to think about what the writer says, and what he or she wants to tell you. This helps exercise your brain, and you can also get knowledge from the book. Besides, it keeps you away from Alzheimer's disease.

- Reading boosts your vocabulary.

Studies show that people learn many words from reading. The words you learned from books are more than those you learned from textbooks in school. Also, reading makes your writing better. The more you read, the better you write.

When you feel stressed out, you can read books, too. It will help you feel better. There are still many benefits of reading. If you would like to know more, this book is something you can't miss!

Have you ever been sitting at home, using Facebook and suddenly see your friends out having fun without you? Do you then feel jealous when you think about everything you're missing out on? That feeling is a result of FOMO: the fear of missing out.

FOMO has become such a hot topic in these years. It means "anxiety that an exciting or interesting thing may now be happening somewhere." Although there is nothing new about the fear of missing out, cell phones and technology have made the problem worse, especially among the young. People with intense FOMO focus so much on the activities of others that they can't enjoy their own lives. Those who spend too much time on their cell phones may also become isolated from their friends and family.

The fear of missing out is a natural human emotion, but you need to make sure that FOMO doesn't control your life. You should learn when to put down your cell phone, focus on the present, and be thankful for what you have. You can also use FOMO in a good way. Next time, if you feel jealous of someone, use that feeling to help you reach your own goals.

第一部分：聽力測驗

一、以下第 1-4 題，請根據所聽到的句子，選出最適當的圖片。

(每題念二次，題與題之間隔三秒，速度正常)

1. When Samantha arrived at the bus stop, the bus she wanted to take had already left.
2. As long as you study hard, you can get good grades.
3. Sam and Leo have a lot in common. For example, Sam likes to play basketball, and so does Leo.
4. Tom Cat likes to run after Jerry Mouse in order to catch him. However, he never succeeds.

二、以下第 5 - 9 題，請根據聽到的對話內容，選出最適當的答案。

(每題念二次，題與題之間隔三秒，速度正常)

5. Mom: Jerry, please help me take out the garbage.

Jerry: I already did it.

Mom: Then, can you pick your sister up for me? I'm too busy now.

Jerry: Of course! It's my pleasure.

Question: What is Jerry going to do?

6. Judy: Tom, when will you go to Japan on business?

Tom: Next Monday. As soon as I arrive there, I'll call you.

Judy: Don't forget to bring me something special. Also, remember Mom and I like postcards. Don't bring us any books again.

Tom: I know, Judy. I have heard this dozens of times. You don't need to repeat it again and again.

Question: What might Tom NOT buy as a gift?

7. John: What are you doing, Catherine?

Catherine: I'm reading a book about blood types.

John: Really? What does it say?

Catherine: It says that people of blood type A are calm. People of blood type B are strong.

John: What else?

Catherine: Type AB people are cool, and type O people are honest.

John: Right! No wonder I don't like those who tell lies.

Question: Which might be the boy's blood type?

8. Father: Catherine told me that she had washed the dishes. How come they're still not clean?

Mother: Maybe she did not wash them carefully.

Father: As a father, I always tell her to do everything carefully.

Mother: But saying is one thing and doing is another. Catherine is not good at washing dishes. Neither are you.

Father: Come on...

Question: What does the mother mean?

9. Monica: Why are you pulling a long face, Albert?

Albert: I didn't get a good grade on my science test. I told my parents that I had studied hard for the past few days. However, they were just mad at me.

Monica: Poor you! Test grades don't mean everything, but you must make sure that you've already tried your best. If you need any help, come and talk to me.

Albert: Thank you, Monica.

Question: Why is Albert unhappy?

三、以下第 10-12 題，請根據所聽到的短文內容及題目，選出最適當的答案。

(本短文唸完第一遍後停三秒，再唸第二次，速度正常)

January is National Blood Donor Month. However, it doesn't mean that you can only donate blood to someone in need during this month. When you donate blood, you may think about what your blood type might say about you. Nobody really knows if your blood type decides who you are, but some cultures and countries believe it does. This is especially common in Japan where people are often asked about their blood types as part of the job interview. They are asked this to see whether they will do their jobs well in the future. Maybe blood types should not be used only to find someone who can donate blood but also to match people. Through this, you may know if you've found your perfect type.

10. What is the main idea of the reading?

11. When is National Blood Donor Month?

12. Which is NOT true?
