Part C Reading Passage

【A】

Many years ago, smartphones were expensive. Not everyone could own a good smartphone. However, most people can afford one these days and they like to use it in different ways. People make phone calls, send messages, watch videos, surf the Net, or even talk to the voice assistants on their phones.

Using smartphones makes our life more convenient, but they bring problems, too. For example, when smartphones ring in public places, like movie theaters or museums, people are bothered. Also, walking/driving and using smartphones at the same time can cause serious accidents. Besides, the cost of keeping a smartphone is not low. You need to pay for your bills every month. So, smartphones are useful only when you can use them wisely.

bothered 被干擾; bill 帳單

43. () What does afford mean?
 (A) to hope for (B) to be able to buy (C) to move (D) to shape
44. () How does the writer feel about smartphones?
 (A) It's of no help to use smartphones. (B) Keeping a smartphone is easy.
 (C) Smartphones make our life worse. (D) There are both good and bad sides of smartphones.

The Memory is Gone, But the Love isn't

When a person has problem remembering and thinking, he or she might suffer from dementia. It can happen to anyone, and it is most common for the seniors, especially for those with Alzheimer's disease, stroke or head injury. People with dementia may forget things easily, have trouble getting along with others, or find it hard to get everyday work done.

They may also experience changes in mood or personality. Life can be very hard for both the person with dementia and their loved ones. There is no way to treat dementia, but there are ways to keep the symptoms from getting worse. Activities such as reading, doing puzzles, chatting with friends and family can help because they keep the brain working. A healthy diet and regular exercise can also help. People with dementia are still people with feelings and emotions. They still experience joy and love. With understanding and care, we can make life better for those with dementia and their family.

The Flying Machine

Picture that you order some drinks online. Your drinks are delivered by a drone in just a few minutes. Believe it or not, this is possible in the near future. Drones have been used by the military since the 1970s. Over the last fifty years, drone technology has become better and been brought to the public. In fact, drones have already started doing work in many different areas. However, many people are still not sure if drones are something good for people or not.

On one side, drones can do many things in a good and fast way. To start with, drones can locate injured people by using special cameras. They can quickly deliver food, water and medical supplies to people in hard-to-reach or dangerous places. Some hospitals now use drones to help people in need. They're also used by the police to catch the bad guys or to solve troubling events. Some drones travel above the sea to collect information about the ocean and the climate, and some even work on farms to help farmers spread seeds.

On the other side, they also create problems if they are not used correctly and carefully. You may have heard of the following news: a drone flies into someone's yard and takes pictures of them without telling them, a drone flies too close to an airplane and almost leads to an accident, or a drone falls from the sky and hits someone on the head. The use of drones has also become a serious problem. That's why the government has set rules of using it.

It's clear that drones will help us in many ways, but everything has its pros and cons. Let's wait and see how drones will change our everyday life in the future.

deliver 運送; military 軍隊; technology 科技; locate 定位; medical supplies 醫療補給; government 政府, spread 散播; pros and cons 優缺點

48. () A man made a drone like a flying ghost on the street to scare people. Ada was shocked to death when she saw it. That was a terrible joke for her. Ada didn't think drones were good. Who might have the same idea with her?
- (A) Eddie. He used his phone to order some food and a flying machine landed close by with his food.
- (B) Eric, the farmer. Drones are used by him to check the health of plants.
- (C) Peter, the traveler. A drone ran into a plane and led to a serious accident. Peter lost his left leg that night.
- (D) Belle, the police officer. A car was hit by a driver, but he ran away in no time. Belle caught him with the help of a drone.
49. () Why has the government set rules of using drones?
- (A) If people use drones carelessly, more and more problems and accidents will happen.
- (B) A drone isn't a useful tool because it costs much more than other devices.
- (C) A drone does many things better and faster than we do.
- (D) Drone technology was brought to the public before the military use.
50. () According to the reading, which is true?
- (A) We don't know how long drones have been used by the military.
- (B) We have no idea what drones can deliver to people in different places.
- (C) Drones are able to tell us where injured people are by taking photos and videos.
- (D) Food and water can be sent to hard-to-reach places by drones, but it takes too much time.
