Long time ago, there was a monster. He was very ugly and had no friends. So he lived alone and was unhappy.

“I wish I had a friend,” he said to himself every day. “One friend would be enough.” He wrote a letter to a magazine. “Dear Editor,” he wrote. “I am an ugly monster. How can I find a friend?” “Dear monster,” the Editor replied. “Advertise for a friend in this magazine.” The monster wrote an advertisement. “Monster wants Friend, male or female. I have two heads, two eyes, four arms, six legs and three tails. Smoke comes out of my noses. But I am a kind monster and will be a good friend to someone. If you would like to meet me, please stand outside Hong Dao's Store at 5 p.m. on Wednesday, March 27th. Write to me at Box 815. Yo Yo's Magazine.”

A few days later, he went to the magazine. “Do you have any letters for Box 815?” he asked. “Yes, there is one.” The clerk answered and gave it to him. The monster opened the letter and read, “Dear Monster, I think a person's character is more important than his appearance. I will wait outside Hong Dao's Store on Wednesday. Please carry a flower so that I can recognize you. Yours sincerely, Miss Rose White.”

Did you hear a lot of stories from your parents, TV, or books during your childhood? In fact, most of the stories are interesting and teach lessons. The old English storybook The Canterbury Tales has many kinds of stories. Many people told stories from this book, and the stories were just for killing time on their way to Canterbury at first. But then, some of them hid what they really wanted to talk about behind their stories. For example, one pardoner told a story about three men who wanted to know where Death was. They met an old man, and the old man told them that Death sat under a tree. They went to the tree and discovered nothing, but a lot of gold. They decided that one person would go to buy some food to celebrate finding the gold. When one of them went to the store, the others planned to kill him when he came back. After the man came back, they really killed him. However, to their surprise, the man poisoned the food already. So after eating the food, the two guys died. They all met Death finally. The lesson in the story is to tell people not to be greedy.

What do you know about your foot? Read the paragraphs below and see which kind of foot you have, Egyptain Foot, Greek Foot or Roman Foot?

Most people have Egyptain Foot—the big toe is longer than any other ones. Most of the persons in Taiwan have this kind of foot. If they want to buy shoes, slanted head shoes are better for them.

The second kind of foot is Greek Foot. The second toe is longer than any others. The people whose second toe is longer are usually beautiful and they have long arms and long legs. Having Greek Foot isn't necessary to be a beautiful woman, but a beautiful woman must have Greek Foot. Pointed head shoes are good for Greek Foot.

The last one is Roman Foot. Every toe is the same length. Not many people have this kind of foot. They are usually very good at being ballet dancers. They can choose round head shoes or square shoes to wear.
