Palm oil is vegetable oil that comes from the palm fruits. Palm trees grow in rainforests. But now people plant too many palm trees because they want to provide enough palm oil for many countries around the world.

Why do people need so much palm oil? People need palm oil to make food, cosmetics and even clothes. Palm trees can grow very quickly. Besides, people can also get the palm fruits all year. So more and more people plant palm trees to sell palm oil. They make money this way. Many people also sell their land to big companies to plant palm trees.

What can we do to save rainforests? Stop buying things that have palm oil in them. When no one needs palm oil, no one sells it by burning rainforests to plant palm trees!
