Part 3. Reading Comprehension

【A】

Are you an early bird or a night owl? We often ask someone about their sleeping habits like this. Many people now think this question to be too general. Today, we can use four animals to talk about sleeping habits. Lions, for example, wake up very early and are full of energy before noon. Bears like to wake up and go to bed with the sun. Wolves, however, wake up later and are most active during the evening. And finally, dolphins usually have problems in sleeping because they are always alert and ready for everything.

After knowing your sleep animal, you can change your habits to your body’s natural sleep patterns. For example, if(如果) you are a lion, then you should try to do all important works in the morning. If you are a wolf, you should leave important work for later in the day. A dolphin may need to take some short breaks during the day to make up for disrupted sleep. A wolf might be poor at regular office job but good at selling things at a night market.

Which do you think you are? A lion, a bear, a wolf, or a dolphin? There is no best sleep animal. Knowing your sleep animal can help you make good use of your waking hours and decide your jobs and ways of life.

You might hear about Oprah Winfrey. But did you know the story behind her? She had a terrible life from a very early age. She was born in a poor family in Mississippi. Her parents had her at age 18 and split soon after she was born. After that, her grandmother took care of her, but she moved back with her mother at the age 6.

She experienced sexual assault at age 9 from some of her family members. After that, she started doing something bad and that made her become pregnant at the age 14. Her mother kicked her out of the house, so she went on to live with her father. She lost her baby a week after he was born. She decided to turn her life around after she lost her baby.

She joined a beauty contest and then worked as a reporter. Her love for speaking to audience made her host a TV show in Maryland. Later, she had her morning talk show in Chicago. She became one of the most successful talk show hosts in history with her own self-named talk show, The Oprah Winfrey show. Oprah got her success because of her hard work, not because of the help from others, so she is now one of the richest self-made women in America. She sets a good example for all women.

John Wang: I love playing video games and want to become a top e-sports player one day. I have some questions about e-sports players. Can you help me know more about the job?

Toyz Liu: Sure. I started to play League of Legends at age 13. Now my game ranking is high enough to be a top player, so I'm playing for the TOP e-sports club.

John Wang: How often does an e-sports player usually practice?

Toyz Liu: An e-sports player usually practices for 14 hours every day. Take my club as an example, we have three rounds of team fight from 2 to 10 pm. After team practicing, each player has five to six hours of practice. We usually get to sleep after 4 am and get up at around 1:30 pm.

John Wang: How can I become an e-sports player?

Toyz Liu: An e-sports player usually starts the job early at around age 16 and lasts to age 23 to 25. There are many camps for young players today, but the competition is fierce. So if you want to be an e-sports player just because you don't like school work or like playing games as a hobby, it is hard for you to get a place here.

John Wang: How much money does an e-sports player make?

Toyz Liu: Players playing at big games usually make five million dollars. However, top players can even make fifty million dollars. A new player usually makes a few thousand a month.

John Wang: Thank you for your information.
